Rostock. In Hansa he experienced all the ups and downs, celebrated the ascent and mourned the descents. Countless players, coaches and club officials have seen him come and go. Axel Schultz has survived all the crises and is still there - and has been for more than half a century. I sometimes wonder for myself, Rostoker says with a smile. On Monday, former East German player Oberliga, who reached the national team in 1991 (three matches) and scored a double with Hansa, will be 60 years old. It's crazy how time goes by, says his longtime teammate and friend, I think last month we were living in a double room on long trips. Axel Schultz, Unbreakable. He is the oldest hansa legend, spent his entire professional life in his club. First as a player, then for many years as a press officer, today he works as a sports coordinator for Koggenklub. Unthrecitable, down-to-earth, honest, intelligent and unreservedly loyal - this is how Shul received recognition and sympathy from Hansa and beyond. As a footballer he was sometimes a little underrated, finds club icon Schlenz (57): He was technically strong, two-legged and quite fast. From my point of view, he was a better footballer than I was. The midfield line with Schulz, Schlenz and Michael Mischinger (now 63) was in the eighties with the best that club football should have offered. When Schulz first trained with Hansa, Walter Ulbricht was still in charge between the Baltic Sea and the Thuringian Forest, the chancellor was a certain Kurt-Georg Kiesinger, and the German football champion was Eintracht Braunschweig. Axel's father, Heinz Schultz, a sports journalist for Rostock, brought the seven-year-old slender second-grader to hans's young FC, which two years ago was singled out from SC Empor. In 1967, it was not foreseeable that this first training session with F-Juniors would form a lifelong bond. I felt out of place and asked myself: what am I going to do here? Schultz recalls more than 50 years later: I couldn't do anything and just groped a little, others could do anything. One of the others was Rainer Jarokhs, who later became one of Hansa's best forwards. Jarokhs, now 61, is one of the players Axel Schultz has impressed the most in his career. Because he was playing completely unorthodox. He wasn't fast, he wasn't particularly resilient, and he wasn't a giant football player. But he had an outstanding shot and ball technique, he was smart in the matches, and he had the goalkeeper's gene, Schultz said, adding: Rainer was an instinctive footballer, he had football in his blood. Event history (s) on the goalkeeper position in Hansa Rostock since 2000. © Sometimes he caught himself in the game that he to see what he's doing now? In addition to his football career at The University of Rostock, both made it to a diploma of German teacher and are still good friends. Looking back, Schulz believed that his years as a player in Oberliga (242 appearances / 38 goals) to be the most beautiful time: You were young, you were full of juice, was your hobby for work and carefree life. It ended in 1990, at least in terms of his professional career. Schultz has a ruptured cruciate ligament from which he should never recover properly: After that, I didn't get to where I used to be. In a double season he made only four games, in addition to eight Bundesliga games and some league games - then Schulz ended his playing career. When I stopped, I was glad it was over. I've been suffering for the last few years, he recalls. He then became a coach at PSV Rostock, first in the junior ranks and finally with the Women's Bundesliga (there was quite a lot of hairspray flying through the cockpit) before hansa's then managing director Helmut Gergecell brought his former player back in 1996 as an assistant management. I didn't have to think long. I was happy to make a living at my club again. Schulz, better known as Schweiger, became a spokesman for the then Bundesliga club. He also acted as a German teacher for many foreign Hansa professionals, helped them find housing, opened accounts, organized kindergartens, and worked as a scout: with longtime manager Herbert Maronne, he was looking for new players, especially in Sweden. Publicly, Schulz has always held on, preferring to keep others in the spotlight. He never pushed forward. In fact, he will have to work in the Bundesliga, not in the third, Schlutz said. Schultz succumbed to such restraint, as in his work in the barber shop. He's one of the few of us who still has not only the same weight, but also the same hairstyle, Schlenz says. Currently somewhat of the fashion Vokuhila (front short, back long) wears Schultz, since I was 15 or 16 years old, says a still very young kind of ex-kicker: Because I came up so often about my hairstyle, I thought about changing something. But at the end of the day, I didn't have the guts. Schultz has now developed a certain distance from the modern professional business. The crazy sums that move can no longer be brought to people, says the passionate football fan, who, like Yuri Schilrentz, especially enjoys watching English football. I find the emotion that football evokes is as exciting as the game itself, he says. Schulz is also present at every Hansa game at the Baltic Sea Stadium: I am not only an employee, but also a fan. Of course, fever it will always be so. Unlike his 50th birthday, Schultz will celebrate not his 60th birthday, but in a small circle with his wife Ina, children Vanka and Tim and three grandchildren. Also planned food - with his old pals Hansa: In addition to Yuri Schlenz, Rainer Jarokhs and Herbert Maronne (59) ex-trainer Andreas Sahber (56) is also offered. They don't last as long as Axel Schultz.
